

The prisoners knew the penalty for failure. Planning murder, especially the murder of Nazi camp personnel, would be punished by a quick bullet in back of the head.

